Course Description: This course surveys and analyzes the principles, institutions, policies and politics of U.S. National Government. Major topics in the course include the constitution and federalism, civil rights and civil liberties, the presidency, congress, and the supreme court, modern American politics, and public policy. The primary goal of the course is to help students become critical, analytical observers of American politics, government systems, and institutions. Students will go beyond a basic understanding of how the government works to obtain a critical appreciation of the strengths and weaknesses of the American political system, the pros and cons of various modern policy debates, and the importance of citizen's rights and responsibilities. The course is a college level course and requires a significant amount of preparation for every class on the part of the student.

B.A. Program Learning Objectives:

- Critical and analytical thinking ability;
- The ability to understand issues from multiple perspectives;
- The ability to connect learning to lived experience;
- Social awareness, community engagement, global citizenship;
- Core competency in foundational skills: including, writing, quantitative reasoning, information literacy, technological literacy, oral communication, and research.

Learning Objectives:

Students successfully completing the course will be able to:

- Articulate the philosophies and arguments relevant to the creation and adoption of the US Constitution.
- Identify and summarize the major principles of the constitution, including federalism and checks and balances.
- Discuss the roles and responsibilities of the major political institutions in the United States: the Congress, the presidency, and the federal courts.

- Describe and compare how political parties, elections, political action committees (PACs), interest groups, and the mass media effect modern American politics.
- Reference major Supreme Court decisions to trace the development of individual rights and liberties and their impact on citizens.
- Compare the roles and effect of various institutions including but not limited to bureaucracy and the courts on both the formation and enactment of public policies. Students will be able to interpret and debate major modern public policy issues.

Evaluation Criteria

The final evaluation will address the extent to which students have met the learning objectives listed above, as demonstrated in:

- Active contributions to classroom discussion demonstrating constructive dialogue with peers
- Depth and critical perspective in papers and exams
- Development of understanding of the selected texts and analytical skill over the course of the term including in papers, quizzes, and tests.

Additionally, the specific components of the course grade are constructed as follows:

- Quizzes 20%
- Mid Term Exam 15%
- Response to Reading Papers 30%
- Class Participation 10%
- Final Exam 25%

Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend all class sessions and participate as required in the syllabus. Students missing more than 4 class sessions must make up the missed time by completing assignments per instructors direction, students missing more than 10 class sessions will not receive credit for the course. See AULA General Catalog, 2010-2012 (p. 59) for university policy.

Incomplete Policy

Per University policy, students must complete all course work by the deadlines stated in the syllabus.

If a student anticipates not being able to complete required work by the end of the term, the student may request an Incomplete from the instructor. Incompletes are awarded at the discretion of the instructor. See AULA General Catalog, 2010-2012, (p.63) for university policy.

Plagiarism Policy

Plagiarism – that is, the intentional or unintentional borrowing of another person’s ideas, images, research, or data without citation -- is a serious breach of academic integrity that results in sanctions, including dismissal from the University. Please consult Diana Hacker’s A Writer’s Reference, 6th ed., pp. 344-347 for specific guidance on avoiding plagiarism while taking notes, summarizing, paraphrasing, and quoting from sources. Students committing plagiarism will be also be subject to disciplinary action from DaVinci Schools as well as from the University.

Student Conduct Policy

Respectful conduct is expected of students on the campus at all times, both inside and outside the classroom. See AULA General Catalog, 2010-2012, (p.59 &71) for further details re: Antioch University Los Angeles policy.

Students with Disabilities

Any student with a documented disability (physical, learning, or psychological) needing academic accommodations should contact the Disability Services Office (310-578-1080, ext. 441) as early in the semester as possible. All discussions will remain confidential.
