Part X, Line 2:

The University is a qualifying organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) and is, therefore, exempt from income taxes under the IRC Section 501(a) on its normal operations. However, the University is taxed on other unrelated income, if any. The University is subject to federal income tax on rental income.

The University follows FASB guidance on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes, which addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, the University may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of the University, the continued tax-exempt status of bonds issued by the University, and various positions related to the potential sources of unrelated business taxable income (UBIT). The tax benefits recognized in the financial statements from such a position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. The guidance on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes also addresses de-recognition, classification, interest and penalties on income taxes, and accounting in interim periods. At June 30, 2014 there were no unrecognized tax benefits indentified or recorded as liabilities.

The University files Forms 990 and 990-T in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and the required states. With few exceptions, the University is no longer

Schedule E, Part 1 Line 3

Antioch University, formerly known as Antioch College, has a proud history of being one of the first institutions in the mid 1850's to admit African Americans into the same academic programs as whites. It is also notably the alma mater of Coretta Scott King and others who worked for the civil rights movements of the 1960's. Shortly after its incorporation in 1852, it amended its articles of incorporation to provide that, "nor shall religious or theological opinions of any kind or considerations of race, creed, or national origin ever be used as a basis for excluding a person from its benefits." The University has since expanded its policy of nondiscrimination requiring that "Antioch provides equal opportunity for all qualified applicants and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, gender, ancestry, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity, family status or disability in matters affecting employment or in providing access to programs." It now includes its nondiscrimination policy statement in all brochures and other recruitment materials as well as in the course catalog. Finally, the policy is clearly posted on the website of each University campus and program. Further, as per section 4.03 paragraph c, the University currently enrolls students of racial minorities in meaningful numbers. Per section 4.03 paragraph b of Rev. Proc. 75-50, 1975-2 CB 587, the University is not required to further annually publish its re-accredited for 10 years. The effort, which included the completion of a significant "self-study" and comprehensive site visits to all campuses, helped move the University forward in many ways as "one integrated university" that is aligned to its mission and constantly adapting to best serve its target market.

In addition, Antioch University was invited to participate in three national programs that are exploring higher education models for the future. Through a competitive process, the Competency-based Education Network (C-BEN) accepted Antioch University as one of 18 higher education institutions and two major systems to address common challenges in designing and developing competency-based degree programs and related business models. Second, the University was accepted into the second cohort of institutions to participate in the Higher Learning Commission's Academy on Student Persistence and Completion. Through the Academy, Antioch University will build its capacity to improve students' persistence and completion in their undergraduate degree programs by focusing on effective collection of data, evaluation and improvement of current strategies, and the development of new strategies. Third, through Next Generation Learning Challenges, Antioch

Form 990, Part VI, Section A, line 4:

The by-laws were amended to improve and clarify the relative roles of the Board of Governors, Boards of Trustees, and the Chancellor. The revised by-laws represent an appropriate balance of reserved and delegated authority which will improve the effectiveness of each campus and the vitality and flexibility of the University moving forward, while at the same time reaffirming that Antioch University is one integrated university and that ultimate fiduciary responsibility for the University lies with the Board of Governors.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 11:

The Form 990 was reviewed by management and a copy was provided to the full Board of Governors ("BOG"). Questions from the BOG were reviewed and discussed by the Audit Committee with management prior to filing of the Form 990.

The University Conflict of Interest policy is reviewed annually by each officer and member of the Board of Governors (as well as local campus Board of Trustees). Each individual signs a form annually confirming they have reviewed and understand the policy and disclosing any conflicts they may have. the annual disclosure period, the Board of Governors is questioned as to whether any conflict of interests exists. Management also does an assessment of any possible conflicts, as well, at this time. When a conflict may arise, depending on the circumstance, the member may either need to recuse him/herself during discussions of the conflicted activity, or they may be asked to resign.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15:

The Compensation Committee made up of independent members of the Executive Committee. They review industry data from several reputable sources. These sources included survey data of dozens of industry peers. In addition, the Committee would take into consideration the financial health of the institution and the increases provided to other key employees within the University. The Committee held discussions and ultimately voted upon the compensation provided to the Chancellor for the following year. The process was documented.

For other officers and key employees, the Chancellor reviews industry data for comparable institutions. In addition, performance evaluations were completed. A compensation recommendation for these employees is based on this data, which is provided by the Chancellor to the Executive Committee who then votes on the final compensation. The process was documented.
